

FINAL PROJECT

You will revise your homework1.html (that you developed in the mini project 1) and here are the details you have to add to it:

- a) ~~The layout of the front page - homework1.html - needs to be using flexbox or grid~~
- b) ~~The layout (position of the elements) should follow this image.~~

- c) ~~The colors for background are your choice~~
- d) ~~Use the same content from homework1, such as your paragraphs and images, in the CONTENT section.~~
- e) ~~The HEADER is your heading.~~
- f) ~~The MENU section of the layout will contain your links menu from homework 1. The page can have a layout that would be like the image below (the whole container having menu, heading, content and footer would be centralized within the width of the browser (represented by the light blue color you see in the image) and, if you want, you can add a box shadow for that big container)~~

- g) ~~Add a Contact page - contact.html – that includes a paragraph saying that whoever wants to contact you can use the information in the footer part of the page or can fill out the form.~~

- h) You will build the Contact Me form. It needs to have a field for full name, another field for email address, and a text area for comments. The name and email are required.
- i) Remember to update the link on the homework1.html page to that new contact.html page.
- j) In the footer area, add some copyright information with your name and email address with a link that is related to email (that will allow the user to open the email system in their machine and write an email to you)
- k) The link for the MeetUp needs to link to your MeetUp report. It is due the same date as this Final Project
- l) The Assignments page (assignments.html), and the Contact page (contacts.html) will need to have the same menu and layout of the first page (the main / home page = homework1.html). TIP: create the layout for homework 1 and then you will change only the content area for the other pages – in the Assignments page, the content area will be the links to your assignments and in the Contact page, the content will be the form
- m) You will need to create a favicon to include in your page - to be your logo - remember that there are websites out there that create a favicon for free for you.

EXTRA CREDIT:

2 points - if you use the technique of RWD (Responsive Web Design) to create a mobile version for your site: the homework1.html, the assignments.html, the contact.html need to be responsive - it will be ok to not have the MeetUp report page responsive but those 3 pages need to be responsive. The page should be shown in a single column having the heading at the top, then the items of the menu (one item below the other), then the content, and finally the footer at the bottom. The points will only be given if the RWD is working for the 3 pages mentioned here!

ATTENTION!!!

There is NO late submission for the Homework Project!!! It is due one day before the last day that any late assignment will be accepted!

The extra credit points will be shown together with the grade
